TURNER OUT, AMOS IN FOR GLO'STER

Because of a strained ligament in his leg which he received in Tuesday's trial, wing threequarter Ernest Turner has had to withdraw from the Gloucester side selected to meet Lydney in the opening match of the season at Kingsholm tomorrow (3.15).

R. Amos, a threequarter who turned out for the premier fifteen in one or two matches last season, will fill the vacant position.

No changes have so far been reported in the Lydney team.

The Severnsiders made a very good start to their season last Saturday, almost turning the tables on "Nim" Hall's powerful fifteen, who only managed to beat them by 10 points to 8.

Tomorrow Lydney are likely to give Gloucester a good run for their money.
