

GLOUCESTER JOURNAL

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1897

FOOTBALL

The Gloucester City team (minus the services of F. Hipwood, P. Stout, Hall, Pitt, F. Stout, Stephens and Cummings) opposed Cheltenham on the latter's ground and only just managed to gain the verdict, the margin being a penalty goal to nil. Taylor scored the goal by the aid of a splendid drop kick.

On Wednesday the first of the English trial matches was decided, when Oxford and Cambridge beat a team representing London and the South by 2 goals 1 try to 1 try. Percy and Frank Stout played for the Londoners, the former scoring the only try gained by his side.

JC