GLO'STER LUCKY TO LEAD AT INTERVAL

FAULTY PASSING AT LEICESTER

Leicester were without Gadney for their match with Gloucester at Leicester to-day, J. Parsons taking his place at scrum half.

Making headway with a useful rush, the Gloucester forwards were pulled up for offside and a penalty followed against the home team.

Attempts at passing on both sides broke down, and mistakes in fielding allowed Leicester to dribble through. The ball was eventually sent over the line, but Williams easily gained the touch.

Parker, the City full-back, contributed some sound work, and from a pass back by Meadows gained useful relief.

So far, the standard of play had not been too good behind the scrum, but Leicester appeared the more enterprising team.

When some Leicester passing went astray, Phillips dribbled through for Gloucester and kicked past Barr over the line. There was an exciting race for the ball, ending in IVOR JONES winning and scoring a good try. Parker failed at goal.

There was no further score before the interval, and Gloucester were rather lucky to have their three points lead at half-time.
