BURNS EARNS TOUR TRIP WITH GLO'STER

Twenty-year-old Terry Burns, the young Longlevens outside-half, played so well in his first game for Gloucester against Bath this week that he has been given a place in the club's Cornish tour party leaving tonight as a reward.

Burns was brought in as a last minute choice for the Bath match and though he is not selected in the first tour team, no doubt the club have him in mind should Terry Hopson still be unfit.

Hopson is making the trip but in the first game, against Penzance at 6.15 tomorrow, David Ainge is at the outside half position.

Ken Taylor is not available and M. Nicholls plays at hooker. Business also keeps Roy Long out of the second row for the first match, though he hopes to get to Exeter for the second.

LEAVE TONIGHT

The tour party leaves Kingsholm by coach at 6 p.m. and will stay the night at Exeter, completing the remaining 107 miles to Penzance tomorrow morning.

They will stay at St. Ives for three nights and will play Exeter, in the second match on Monday (6.30).

Tomorrow's team is: A. Holder (capt.); Bob Smith, J. Bayliss, R. Pitt, R. Timms; D. Ainge, M. Booth; R. Fowke, M. Nicholls, A. Townsend, A. Brinn, B. Hudson, P. Ford, D. Owen and Dick Smith.
