Gloucester have been one of the most active in the summer transfer market and have undoubtedly strengthened their squad from that which finished the regular Guinness Premiership season in first place - justifiably making them many pundits' choice to go one better with this team and lift the trophy.

The manner of the Guinness Premiership final defeat to Leicester would have come as a disappointment to many Cherry and Whites fans. Gloucester could not compete with the pace and power of Alesana Tuilagi who was in near unstoppable form for the Tigers, but Dean Ryan has signed a Pacific Islands powerhouse of his own for this campaign.

Lesley Vainikolo's cross-code move from Bradford Bulls was one of the biggest moves of the summer and Gloucester will be looking to utilize the pace and power that has made him one of the most potent attacking forces in the world in the 13-man game.

When you add his name to that of Andy Titterrell (Sale Sharks), Gareth Cooper (Newport Gwent Dragons),

Jeremy Paul (ACT Brumbies), Chris Paterson (Edinburgh) and Leon Lloyd (Leicester Tigers) as new signings, it makes impressive reading. All the more so when you throw in the likes of Tindall, Simpson-Daniel, Lamb, Allen, Mercier, Balshaw and Morgan - and that's just the backline!

Add forwards Bortolami, Brown, Hazell, Nieto, Azam and Califano and you have a squad that is more than capable of going one better this term.

Obviously, some of those players won't be in action for the first few weeks of the season with them taking part in the Rugby World Cup but the strength in depth of the club means they will be fielding a pretty strong line-up today. The two clubs met four times last season - a pre-season friendly, twice in the Guinness Premiership and then in the semi-finals of the competition.

Gloucester certainly got the better of the Men In Black in May in that semi-final clash but Gloucester's visit to Vicarage Road in February ended with Kris Chesney's try and Glen Jackson's conversion providing a last-gasp win for the Men In Black.

Nicknamed "The Volcano", Vainikolo joined Bradford Bulls from the Canberra Raiders club in Australia. After a first season disrupted by injury he took the game by storm in 2003 scoring 28 tries in 32 appearances and terrorising defences with his barnstorming unstoppable running.

In 2004 he was in outstanding form smashing the Super League try scoring record with a total of 37 tries in only 26 appearances and notching up 5 hat-tricks along the way. His try scoring ratio, one per game, is as good as anyone in the history of the game and he has won many games for the Bulls with his strength and pace.

He had long attracted interest from Guinness Premiership clubs but he finally decided to make the move into the 15-man game in the summer of 2007. He made his debut against Cardiff Blues in pre-season and will be looking to repeat the kind of form that saw him score 11 tries in 13 appearances last season before his move to Kingholm.

Andy Hazell made his Gloucester debut during the 1997/98 season and established himself as the main open side a number of seasons ago. Injuries have hampered his appearances both in the 2002/03 season and to some extent during the 2003/04 campaign. He is always in the thoughts of the international selectors with his superb breakdown play and pace. Hazell was a member of the England squad that toured for the Churchill Cup in the summer of 2004.

He started the Six Nations Championship for England in Cardiff and will hope for further honours this season. Supremely quick - he is the fastest member of Gloucester's squad over a short distance - Hazell has real instinct for the ball on the ground, makes his tackles and is superb in support.

Hazell has recently signed a new three-year contract extension that will run until 2011 and was last season named in Sky TV's 'Dream Team' of the year. He is now Gloucester's longest serving player and is unlucky not to have more international caps to his name.

Wing*James Simpson-DanielApps: 1
Points: 5 (1 tries)Dan ScarbroughApps: 1

Simpson-Daniel joined Gloucester from Sedbergh School and has established himself as one of the game's biggest talents. His Gloucester debut was against Rotherham in 2001 when he scored a superb individual try. The wingman has gone on to make an impression at England level after a great performance against Jonah Lomu when he faced the Barbarians in May 2002. His first England try came against Italy in the Six Nations in 2003 and he played in the opening game against New Zealand on the tour of 2004.

A member of the summer England squad that won the Churchill Cup, Simpson-Daniel is one of the most electric finishers in the Premiership. Bursting onto the scene with a hat-trick against Bath, he has since suffered a host of injuries that have denied him an extended run in the international set-up.

Although he scored a try against the Springboks this summer, he missed out on World Cup selection despite being one of the most dangerous game-breakers in the country. He can play on either the wing or the centre and will be a central figure for Dean Ryan's side this season.

Second Row*Alex BrownApps: 1
Points: 0Hugh VyvyanApps: 1
Points: 5 (1 tries)

Rated as one of the best second row forwards in the game, Brown signed for Gloucester in the summer of 2003 from West Country rivals Bristol Shoguns. The England 'A' international topped the line-out statistics charts during the 03/04 season, and was voted the players' player of the year. Brown was selected for the Churchill Cup team to tour North America during the summer of 2004.

He was surprisingly omitted from England's Elite Player squad this season, but is one of the best line-out practitioners in the country. His favourite position is in the middle of the line-out, where he controls Gloucester's operation. Brown has also remodelled himself into one of the most effective defenders in the business and had been included in the England squad for the 2005 autumn internationals.

But he remains one of the best locks in the country and won 2 more England caps on the summer tour to South Africa. He recently signed a three-year contract extension until 2011 and is another player in the Gloucester squad who is unlucky not to be involved in the Rugby World Cup.

Gloucester Memories

Saracens 14 Gloucester 9

Sunday 21st November 2004

When these two sides met in the autumn of 2004 both were having indifferent seasons. Saracens had opened their season with a fine win against Wasps at Twickenham in the inaugural London Double Header but since then Rod Kafer's men had been drifting in and out of form.

In fact, the week before they faced up at Vicarage Road in the premiership, the Men in Black had been humbled at NEC Harlequins 40-10 with the aristocrats crossing the line four times in the opening 20 minutes, a result which was the beginning of the end for Kafer's reign at the club.

Gloucester themselves were not having things their own way and were in somewhat of a transitional period. They arrived in Watford on the back of two defeats, at home to Wasps and away to Leicester, and were desperate to breathe life back into their season.

Both sides had been stripped of the services of their fly halves before the game, Saracens new boy Glen Jackson was recovering from chicken pox whilst the Cherry Whites were having to do without injured former Saracen Duncan McRae.

The game was played in cold, damp conditions and the visitors put the early pressure on, pinning Saracens in their own half for the first 10 minutes. But the home side batted down the hatches with the visitor's only vaguely tangible reward for their efforts a missed penalty kick from Simon Amor.

After fifteen minutes Amor finally found his range and opened the scoring but his success signalled a turn around in possession as Saracens finally began to take a hold of the game.

Bartholomeusz, standing in for Jackson at No. 10, finally took Saracens deep into Gloucester's half with a penalty kick and after two more for Gloucester infringements captain Hugh Vyvyan handed the ball to Kydd to kick for goal to tie the scores.

With the scores now level the game was evenly matched but the home side seemed to be constantly falling foul of the referee as the penalty count soon nudged double figures. Luckily for the Men In Black Amor had left his kicking boots at home in Gloucester as he spurned chances and even when he finally got the ball between the posts Kydd replied a minute later to tie the scores as the sides headed for the break.

The second half was barely a minute old when Bartholomeusz, who was in possession on half way, looked up and sent an almost lateral kick across the pitch.

Waiting out wide was Tevita Vaikona who took the ball cleanly and then trampled over the Gloucester full back Goodridge before heading off towards the Gloucester 22. Vaikona was finally brought down but Ben Johnston was in support and even as he was caught five metres out he managed to slip a pass to Kydd who skidded over in the corner to score a well worked try and take Saracens into the lead for the first time.

At 11-6, with Kydd missing the touch line conversion, Saracens still had plenty to do as Gloucester rolled up their sleeves and set about trying to wrestle back their lead but this week Saracens defence was rock solid constantly frustrating the visitors.

A third successful Kydd penalty took Saracens to a five point lead at 14-9 and then it was left to the wall of black to hold out a determined West Country side.

Finally, after seven minutes of injury time, the referee blew for full time handing Saracens a much-needed victory.

Saracens went on to finish fifth in the premiership that season, beating Gloucester again twice more, once at Kingsholm (for the first time in their history) and once at Twickenham in the Wildcard Play Off, a game that secured Heineken Cup qualification.

Saracens have won their last six home games in the Guinness Premiership – their best home run since winning seven in a row at Watford during 2001.

Gloucester's only regular season defeat in the Premiership since February was at Newcastle in April. After Lesley Vainikolo's barnstorming Guinness Premiership debut last week all eyes will be on Vicarage Road to see if he can equal Tom Varndell's record of scoring five successive Premiership tries for his club.

Varndell achieved the feat over three matches between April and May 2006 and Vainikolo ran in Gloucester's last four tries at Headingley on Sunday. Another record broken by the former Bradford Bulls wing is tries score on debut as no other player has ever scored more than two tries on his debut in the competition. He also broke Barry Everitt's previous record of 21 points scored on a first Premiership start, tallied for London Irish against Harlequins in November 2000.

311 points and 36 tries were scored in the six matches, the best for a round of Guinness Premiership action since round 22 in season 2005-06. 36 tries is a record for an opening round of fixtures since the Premiership began in season 1997/98.
