TROUGHTON, BEVAN BACK FOR GLO'STER

When Gloucester entertain Exeter at Kingsholm to-morrow (3.15), their three-quarter line will show two changes compared with the one that turned out against Stroud.

Stuart Troughton comes into the centre in place of Jones, and Gwyn Bevan returns to the wing in place of Turner. Otherwise the team will be the same. Cartmell and Hook are still on the injured list, Steinhobel has tonsillitis, and Baker and Crabtree are still away.

Exeter have not beaten Gloucester for many years, but they play good, open rugby and usually make the Cherry and Whites fight hard for victory.
