SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL

GLOUCESTER v. CINDERFORD

Our Cinderford correspondent remarks it was a bright and interesting game, in which both sides did their best. In the first half the homesters had more of the game than the citizens, and should have registered a score through Hyndman, who had hard lines. Gloucester had the best of the second half. The attempt at a drop goal deserved success. It was a rare struggle forward, where there was not much between the packs, except that perhaps the Gloucester men heeled better than the homesters, but the latter were smarter in the open. Wright, Jones, and Hyndman were the best for Cinderford, and Berry and Holford for Gloucester.

It was a veritable battle of the giants at half, Gent and Hall shining the most for their respective sides. The former's riskiness and the latter's strong bursts were the outstanding features of the game. The three-quarters were evenly matched, and looked after each other well. Individually Hall was the pick of the Gloucester three-quarters, whilst Young was the best of the home line. Harrington and Egerton both gave sound displays, being both repeatedly called upon and doing their work cleanly, Harrington being the superior.

Whilst Gloucester were in the pink of condition the homesters showed a want of training, last Saturday's idle day telling upon them, and the absence of Rhodes and Meek was greatly felt.
