WELCOME TO ANOTHER SATURDAY NIGHT UNDER THE LIGHTS, AND OUR FIRST EUROPEAN CHALLENGE CUP KNOCK-OUT TIE OF THIS SEASON.

Our opponents tonight are Northampton Saints, and I'd like to extend a warm welcome to everyone who's come over from Northampton this evening.

I also want to welcome everyone from the NHS who has joined us this evening, both from Gloucestershire and from Northamptonshire. You do an amazing job for us all, and we really appreciate it. Your invitations this evening are just a small token of that appreciation.

With the start of the knock-out rounds it really feels like we're coming to the business end of the season. And we're still in a great position in all three of the competitions we're involved in. It's been quite some time since we've been able to say that.

Firstly, we're still challenging to finish as high up the Premiership table as we can. We should hear the outcome of the cancelled Worcester match within the next week or so, and that should put us in a better position than we are now.

Next Friday we're away at Bristol and the following Saturday we're at home to Bath – both matches where your support could make a big difference.

To round off three West Country derbies in eight days, on Wednesday 27th April we have our Premiership Cup semi-final against Worcester here at Kingsholm.

Tickets have been reduced in price for this fixture so that we can get a full Kingsholm crowd cheering us on. If you haven't got your tickets yet you can get them here.

And then we have tonight's match in the European Challenge Cup.

Last week saw us edge out Dragons in Newport to claim a bonus point win. That win means that we will be at home for our knock out games – if we win them, of course.

Your support this evening will make a big difference, and we'll be relying on you as our 16th man.

Together, we are a squad of thousands.

Best wishes
Lance

EPCR WELCOME MESSAGE

A WARM WELCOME TO THIS EPCR CHALLENGE CUP ROUND OF 16 MATCH AS THE COMPETITION FOR A COVETED PLACE IN NEXT MONTH'S MARSEILLE FINAL REALLY BEGINS TO HOT UP.

Ten clubs from the EPCR Challenge Cup, as well as six qualifiers from the Heineken Champions Cup, have reached the knockout stage and with the quest for silverware intensifying, we can now look forward to a compelling series of fixtures culminating in the 2022 decider at the Stade Vélodrome on Friday, 27 May.

The EPCR Challenge Cup has undergone a dynamic rebrand for this season, and with the support of our innovative digital platforms, we are already engaging with a new generation of fans while at the same time acknowledging the established supporters of the tournament since its inception in 1996.

As in previous years, there is the incentive of direct qualification for the Heineken Champions Cup if the tournament winner happens not to have secured a place via its own league.

We are delighted to be joined this season by our newest official partner, DHL, who provide customised logistics solutions for both the EPCR Challenge Cup and the Heineken Champions Cup, and we would like to thank our other official partner, Tissot, as well as the Financial Times, Gilbert and Kappa for their continuing support.

We also acknowledge the superb coverage provided by our TV partners BT Sport, beIN SPORTS, France Télévisions, S4C and Sky Italia whose output is complemented by the wide range of linear and OTT platforms which broadcast our fixtures globally.

We recognise that this season has been particularly challenging for everyone associated with the game, however, it is now heartening to see fans back at venues across Europe and we will continue to work closely with the leagues and unions to ensure that the knockout stage can be concluded safely.

On behalf of all at EPCR, enjoy the match and best wishes to you, the supporters, as well as to your club's players and staff.

Yours in rugby,

Dominic McKay
EPCR Chairman (interim)

CHAIRMAN

GOOD EVENING AND WELCOME TO KINGSHOLM FOR OUR EUROPEAN CHALLENGE CUP FIXTURE AGAINST NORTHAMPTON. THERE IS NOTHING MORE EXCITING THAN A KNOCKOUT TOURNAMENT AND IT'S GREAT THAT WE ARE HOSTING THIS ROUND OF 16 GAME.

We know Saints very well having played them in the Gallagher Premiership, and we recently defeated them here at Kingsholm 35-30. Knockout rugby is different to the Premiership, however, and there's an added air of anticipation as the Cherry and Whites start a cup run.

A Challenge Cup game, under the Saturday night lights, will be a special occasion and I look forward to seeing you all as we look to make our way to the quarter-finals.

Our last fixture against the Dragons was a good victory. The players showed real grit and determination to come back from behind against a strong side. There was a good number of young players who stood up to the challenge well and that is vitally important as we continue to progress in three competitions.

We are still very much in contention in the Premiership and the Premiership Rugby Cup, as well as this competition, so squad management and rotation will be key if we are to battle on all fronts.

As we approach the final stages of the season, I just would like to thank you all for your committed support. It was visible (and audible!) last weekend in Newport where the stands were full of Cherry and White shirts.

You are what makes this club special, and I hope that you enjoy tonight and that we can get the result that we hope for.

Enjoy the game,
Martin

WIAN CONRADIE RETURNS TO NEW ENGLAND FREE JACKS

Gloucester Rugby can confirm that Wian Conradie has departed the Club to return to New England Free Jacks.

Conradie joined the Cherry & Whites ahead of the 2021-22 season, however his time at the Club has been limited to two first-team appearances with injuries combined with the form of his counterparts in the back-row restricting his playing opportunities this season.

Chief Operating Officer Alex Brown thanked Wian for his time at Kingsholm.

"Wian has acted with the upmost professionalism during his time with us. Despite being unfortunate with the knocks he's picked up on the way, he's knuckled down, worked hard and has certainly played his part this season.

"We'd like to thank him for his contribution here and wish him the very best of luck as he heads back to the Free Jacks."

TODAY'S MATCHDAY MASCOT

Today's matchday mascot is Emily Faulkner. Emily is at Cheltenham Prep and her favourite players are Ollie Thorley and Louis Rees Zammit.

She loves all sports, especially hockey and netball. Just came 21st out of 167 runners in Primary Schools National cross country finals!

BONUS POINT WIN FOR GLOUCESTER RUGBY OVER NORTHAMPTON SAINTS

Gloucester Rugby beat Northampton Saints 35-30 to secure the bonus point victory at Kingsholm on Saturday.

What happened?

The Cherry and Whites scored five tries through Harry Elrlington, Tom Seabrook, Louis Rees-Zammit and Santiago Socino with a penalty try from the driving maul also proving crucial.

Northampton were competitive for the full 80 and went into the break with a 28-14 lead.

Gloucester Rugby scored two opportunistic tries in the first half with Harry Elrlington and Tom Seabrook both getting over the line.

For the first score, Elrlington capitalised on an error from Saints at the lineout and was there to crash over for the try.

Hastings was accurate from the boot and nailed the conversion and also added the extras when Tom Seabrook made a break and threw a massive dummy to go over just before the break.

Northampton scored two first half tries through Fraser Dingwall and Matt Proctor with Dan Biggar nailing the conversions and two penalties to give the Saints a 20-14 lead at the break.

In the second half, Northampton were first to score through a Tom Collins try but Gloucester Rugby soon turned the switch on and super sub Louis Rees-Zammit scored a great individual try with his first touch of the game.

The forwards then drove over the line and referee Ian Tempest awarded us the penalty try and yellow carded Emmanuel Iyogun for the offence.

Dan Biggar kept the Saints scoreboard ticking with a penalty but a final try from Matias Alemanno gave us the victory.

GLOUCESTER RUGBY
HERITAGECUP MATCHES AGAINST
NORTHAMPTON

There is a long history to matches between Gloucester and Northampton, the teams having first met in 1899, when Gloucester won 18-8 at Kingsholm. So far there have been 162 matches, with 94 won by Gloucester and 62 by Northampton. However, the first encounter in a cup competition came in a semi-final of the Pilkington Cup in March 1990 at Franklin's Gardens. Playing into a strong wind in the first half, Gloucester were forced to run rather than kick, and scored tries through Mike Teague and Derrick Morgan, but turned round 8-12 behind. With the wind behind them, Gloucester kept Northampton pinned down, and Tim Smith kicked three penalties to secure a 17-12 win.

In January 1994, Northampton came to Kingsholm in the same competition. Paul Holford's try and a Tim Smith penalty put Gloucester ahead 8-3 at half-time, after which an unconscious Don Caskie was taken off to the Royal, but Northampton were stifled very effectively and Smith eventually kicked another penalty for an 11-6 win.

In the 1997-98 season, the teams met in two different cup competitions, both at Franklin's Gardens. In the C&G, a below-strength Gloucester had the better of the scoreless first half an hour, but were then put to the sword to the tune of 5-30, Mark Cornwell's try providing the only relief. In the Tetley's Bitter Cup, two penalties kicked by Mark Mapletoft and a try by Mike Lloyd in injury time could not disguise a dismal performance which produced a similar result, 11-30.

Gloucester celebrate their win in 1990

Despite this loss to Northampton in the group stage of the C&G, Gloucester won all their other games, topped the group, and were back at Franklin's Gardens in April 1998 to play Bedford in the final, which resulted in Gloucester lifting the Cup with a 33-25 victory. Northampton again hosted the final of this competition in 1999, and the same finalists made it through; this time Gloucester won more comfortably, 24-9.

Gloucester had a wonderful run in the Powergen Cup in 2002-03. Having defeated Exeter 35-6 and Saracens 51-20, they went to Franklin's Gardens to defeat Leicester 16-11 in the semifinal. They found Northampton waiting for them in front of 75,000 spectators for the final at Twickenham, where Andy Deacon at age 37 was the oldest player to appear in a rugby cup final. A breathless first half saw Gloucester score tries through James "Sinbad" Simpson-Daniel and Marcel Garvey, with Northampton replying through Nick Beal. Both Ludo Mercier and Paul Grayson had their kicking boots on, but Gloucester conceded more penalties and turned round 20-22 down. Increasingly dominant up-front, Gloucester denied Northampton any further points in the second half. James Forrester scored a try, and Ludo continued to kick points, before the Frenchman intercepted deep in his own half and handed on to Sinbad, who rounded off one of Gloucester's greatest victories with another try at the death to make it 40-22.

The teams met in another final at Worcester in March 2010, for the LV Cup. A stirring match was closely contested throughout, with a try apiece in the first half from Akapusi Qera and Tonga'uiha, and penalties putting Northampton ahead 20-14. The Gloucester pack forced a penalty try, but Downey and Dickson scored for Northampton. Down 24-30, Gloucester put in a huge effort and Nicky Robinson appeared to score a try, but it was disallowed on review – it was that close. The following season Gloucester again reached the final, which was played at Franklin's Gardens, where they went one better and overwhelmed Newcastle 34-7.

Gloucester found the going very tough during two LV Cup visits to Franklin's Gardens in 2013. In January, Northampton gave an inexperienced team a rugby lesson in discipline and forward power as they were well beaten 7-26, Ryan Mills converting his own try for Gloucester's only points. And in November, Ollie Thorley became Gloucester's youngest player in the professional era, but the result was similar, 6-33.

In the Anglo-Welsh Cup in November 2016, again at Franklin's Gardens, it was much closer. Tries in the second half for Thorley and Dan Thomas reduced the deficit to 13-19, but there it ended.

The most recent cup meeting was in the Premiership Cup at Kingsholm in November 2018. On a filthy night, Northampton played with the elements in the first half, and scored first with a try from Piers Francis, but an interception try by Matt Banahan, converted by Billy Twelvetrees, put Gloucester ahead 7-5 at half-time.

With time up at the end of the game, and Gloucester behind 7-12, their forwards drove a penalty over the line and were convinced they had scored. The referee disagreed, but the TMO stepped in, and the replay showed that Gerbrandt Grobler had just inched the ball up to the line. The try was awarded, the scores were level, and Billy Twelvetrees held his nerve to kick the conversion and secure a last gasp win, 14-12 – it was that close again.

Despite the longevity of the rivalry between Gloucester and Northampton, today represents a first in that the teams have never met previously in a European competition.

SANTIAGO SOCINO

ON HIS HAT-TRICK AND THE CHERRY AND WHITE FANS

Santiago Socino has been enjoying Gloucester Rugby's recent success at the maul and got over for a hat-trick last time out against the Dragons.

Having scored three tries in Newport, the Argentine hooker admits that he got a bit of stick from some of his teammates!

"It was great! Really, it's just me grounding the ball when it's the work of the forwards. Everyone gets on with it during the week to help us develop and master the plan.

"I'm not going to lie, I'm happy about the tries but the fact that we stuck to it and we trusted that it would work, that's what was really good.

"I got a bit of stick from the boys, so I told them that I did all the work and that it was all about knowing when to break! I had a few complaints about not giving the ball to someone behind me but obviously it ended in a try so I can't get too much abuse!

"There's a story about Ruan (Ackermann), who was coming behind me but the try line was too close for me to pass it! He claims that he would have passed it to me if he was in the same situation, but I really doubt it.

"It was for my third try as well so of course I was going to go for it!"

Socino joined Gloucester Rugby early in 2021 and has scored nine tries in Cherry and White so far. The majority of these scores have been from the driving maul at the lineout, something that has become a real weapon for the side.

"Normally that first couple of seconds, the maul is static and it's the last two or three men that join it that really give it the shove to get it going. It's really important for us to give it that nudge forward. Sometimes I manage to get on the ball, sometimes teams will do anything to stop it.

"Quite often I end up on the ball, but sometimes I have to plug a hole or try and get ahead of the guy who has the ball. It's not a definitive role, it's about joining from behind and giving it a good nudge and if the ball is there then take it and hopefully score but if it's not there, I'll do exactly what they do when I get the ball out the back.

"It's just about everyone doing their bit and every little grain of sand will help you get there."

Santi has had an interesting journey to Kingsholm, and it all started back in Argentina in the city of Buenos Aires.

"When I was really little, my family from my mum's side, they all played rugby. I played rugby when I was really little until I was about 10-years-old. I then moved to football, Argentina is mad for football, and I played that for a few years but when I was 14/15 I had to decide between the two.

"I moved back to rugby and things went from there. I played first team rugby back home and then I had the chance to move to Hull in National 2. It was a semi-pro environment, and I knew that it was the stepping stone that I needed. So I went to Hull as a semi-pro but trying to chase the dream.

"A couple of years after that, I got picked up by a coach in Hull and they offered me a trial in Newcastle. After a couple of weeks there, I changed positions from the backrow to hooker. I then got offered a contract and I played there for a year. I then played for Mowden for a full year on loan. I really enjoyed it and it was my first experience playing hooker, so it was really really good for me.

"After that, I got the opportunity to play in the first team at Newcastle. I played there for two years, and I was involved quite a bit. I played in the semi-final, here at Kingsholm, against Gloucester Rugby in the Challenge Cup. I played in the Premiership semi-final against Exeter. I got to play with my brother which was a great highlight as well.

"After a couple of years, I got offered to go back to Argentina in the Super Rugby side and I was called up for the national team for the World Cup in 2019.

"After covid, I was in the middle of nowhere. Alex Brown and George Skivington, I wouldn't say they took a chance on me, but they offered me an opportunity to come here after a year of not playing any rugby. I'm really enjoying it and I'm really grateful for it. I love it here and I think it's a great environment.

"It sounds cliché, but this squad is something different and there's a big difference between us and other teams."

Santi is one of three Argentines at Kingsholm with Santiago Carreras and Matias Alemanno also playing their rugby in Cherry and White.

Alemanno was first to come over here, and played a big part in getting the hooker to join the club.

"Mati played a big role. He came a few months before me and then Santi came in December and I came in January. He was the big jefe, the big boss, giving our references! I like to think that we have filled those expectations.

"With those two, it's great for us. To be together. When you're away from home you need to have some people around you. And for me, being here on my own, having Mati here with his wife and baby boy, and Santi here also who's a little bit younger, it's great that we can get together and go for food or coffee.

"It's my family away from home. We spend a lot of time together and if one of us is there, the other two usually aren't far away!

"I like to be there when they need help. Obviously, I've been in England for a fair few years before them so whatever they need, translation or bits of advice, I really enjoy being there for them.

"We look out for each other on the field as well. If there's a little scuffle, we're usually there to help. It's the way that we all react and there's a good connection. Any of us three would do anything for the others."

With his family the other side of the planet, Santi doesn't get to see his parents and siblings very often so must make up for it when he can.

"When I first came, it was the start of 2021. I went home for the end of the season and then they managed to come here for Christmas. That was great because it was the first time having my whole family here. My two sisters, my brother, my little nephew so it was a great Christmas. Obviously, we had a game so it was a bit different to the celebration we would have had back home. Having everyone together was great and it's amazing what a difference a few weeks with your family can make.

"I choose to do what I do. With that comes some sacrifices. A few weeks ago, I was able to go home in that week off and one of my best friends had a massive wedding and Skivs allowed me to go there for a day. I was in Argentina for 24 hours. It was worth it and he knows how much it means to us."

Santiago greatly enjoys playing in front of a packed-out Kingsholm and has noticed that the travelling support is just as loud and passionate.

In Newport, the fans were unbelievable and after a man of the match performance, the Argentine enjoyed celebrating with them afterwards.

"I just couldn't understand it! My sister was there and there weren't any trains coming back after the game and I was looking at 500 people there at 10pm and I was wondering how they were going to get home but they just didn't care!

"They were just so happy about the result that getting home was a problem for their future self. It was just amazing to see something like that and see that they really bought into it. When you see that, the least we can do is graft and put in the effort for them out on the field."

After the game, whilst celebrating with the fans, Santi called all of the players together for a photo, to have some evidence of the occasion.

"I thought that we definitely need a photo with the amount of people that were there. It feels like a real rugby club. When that kind of stuff happens, it's not a professional team. It's like family and we all want the same for the club. It feels more like an amateur club and everyone is there for the same interest and I thought it would be nice if we could get a photo.

"A little memory for everyone."

Santi will be hoping to make more memories as we host Northampton Saints in the Challenge Cup Round of 16.

ENGLAND BEAT WALES 58-5 IN FRONT OF A RECORD CROWD AT KINGSHOLM

HOSTED THE RED ROSES AT KINGSHOLM AND THERE WERE PLENTY OF GLOUCESTER-HARTPURY PLAYERS ON DISPLAY FOR BOTH NATIONS.

14,689 fans turned up, a new record for an England women's ticketed home game outside of a world cup which surpasses the previous record of 13,253 which was set at the Twickenham Stoop.

The victory in front of the passionate Kingsholm crowd was England's 21st win in a row and they remain at the top of the Six Nations table as they chase a fourth successive title.

It was a great occasion with Mo Hunt and Connie Powell both coming on off the bench for England and Kelsey Jones getting over for a try for Wales.

Including Jones, there were 10 Cherry and White players representing Wales with Lisa Neumann, Hannah Jones, Kerin Lake, Robyn Wilkins, Gwen Crabb. Kelsey Jones, Cara Hope and Cerys Hale and Bethan Lewis all getting on with Sisilia Tuipulotu making her starting debut.

Speaking after the game, Mo Hunt described the experience.

"It's just hard to put it into words to be honest. This place means the world to me having grown up coming here in the crowd. To everyone that came, thank you so much. It genuinely means the world and I've been banging on to everyone about how great Gloucester is and I think everyone now can see it."

Try scorer Kelsey Jones knows that there is plenty to work on as her side look to develop and progress.

"We came out today wanting to put on a performance against England. I think we did show elements of that. Now it's about going back and reviewing it individually and as a collective and seeing how we can push on into the following weeks.

"The try, it was a team try and that is what we can do and that is what we want to push and keep on doing. It shows that when we work together as a team, we can pull things off."

GLOUCESTER RUGBY BEAT THE DRAGONS 26-21 WITH SANTIAGO SOCINO SCORING A HAT-TRICK IN A HARD-FOUGHT, COMEBACK VICTORY AT RODNEY PARADE

It was a tough game and the Dragons took a 21-12 lead at the break, leaving the Cherry and Whites with a lot of work to do in the second 40 minutes.

Santiago Socino opened the scoring with a try from the back of Gloucester Rugby's maul and George Barton added the extras to make it a seven-point score.

The hosts hit back hard and scored two tries in quick succession through Taine Basham and Jared Rosser.

Louis Rees-Zammit looked like he had put us firmly back in the fight when the space opened up and the Welshman collected the ball from Seabrook to go over in the corner, but a late score from Harrison Keddle gave the Dragons a healthy lead at half time.

In the second half, Socino scored two in quick succession and Billy Twelvetrees added the two conversions, meaning the Cherry and Whites secured the victory in the European Challenge Cup.

KEY MOMENT: SOCINO HAT-TRICK

Santiago Socino looked really comfortable at the back of the driving maul and went over for an impressive three tries.

The Argentine hooker has been in fine form this season and has now scored an impressive 40 points so far this season.
