KINGSLAND FOOTBALL STAND BURNT OUT

TERRIFYING scenes were witnessed at the Greyhound Rugby Ground on Monday evening when a fire almost completely destroyed the big stand close to the Bovril Stand. At least 500 spectators, many of whom were close to the blazing building, were forced to leave their seats.

Horses and elephants in the Thorpe & Sons circus, which was giving an exhibition in the grounds, were also in danger. At the request of the firemen, the animals were taken to the other side of the ground.

A man, who was ordered to leave the stand, refused to move and was arrested.

A fireman said: "We were warned to expect this, but it was a big fire."
