

Working out the angle of the rugby pass between each player

During a training session, a rugby ball was passed from the first player through the team to the last player, along the lines shown below. You need to measure the angle of each pass. Each player was facing in the direction indicated by the arrow, so you know how to measure the angle. Two passes have already been measured.

Name:	Class:	Date:
-------	--------	-------