Club Notes

We hope that you all — players, members and spectators — had an excellent Christmas and will have a prosperous New Year.

Before the main match today against Gloucester (to whom welcome) we have our Anglo-Scots Schoolboys playing London Irish Schoolboys. This is an important fixture for both clubs as the schoolboys of today are the 1st XV players of tomorrow and our thanks go to Alan Friell for all the hard work he has put in organising this game.

Our guests today, Gloucester, will be slightly below strength as they have two players in the England trial. We also expect to be short of two players as the Scottish trial is also taking place today and we have high hopes that both Tim Paterson-Brown and Lindsay Renwick will be involved.

Gloucester have again this season shown what a formidable club they are and whilst it is still too early to say who will be the first three clubs in Division One it is certain that Gloucester will be one of the strongest contenders for those top placings.

Incidentally, we hope that when the Gloucester players run out on to the pitch today they won't be disorientated by what, in comparison with Kingsholm, will be the almost complete lack of noise. It's not all a subtle ploy on our part to put them off their stride — would that we had crowds a quarter the size of Gloucester's!

Our next home game is next Saturday when we play Gosforth in a Division Two match.
