

THE CITIZEN

SATURDAY, MARCH 25, 1882.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE FOOTBALL CLUB.

The county has played during the season just ended four matches, of which one was lost, one won, and two drawn. The one lost was against Somersetshire, but Gloucestershire made amends by defeating the Midland Counties.

Both matches against Monmouthshire were drawn, neither side scoring at either match. The match against Oxford University was fixed, but not played. In the trial Match, South won.

(When they say "fixed" they presumably meant "arranged." - Ed.)
